

Jane Huynh

Bio: I completed my Bachelor of Science in Nursing from the University of Toronto in 2011 and then subsequently completed my Master of Nursing and Primary Health Care Certificate at Ryerson University in 2016. I have been with the Princess Margaret Cancer Centre since 2011. Since 2017, I practice as a Nurse Practitioner with the Myeloma, Lymphoma, Autologous Stem Cell Transplant Program. In addition to oncology, I also have experience in primary care, mental health, and geriatric care through my former employments at the Don Mills Family Health Team, the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health, and Revera Long Term Care.
